

FORWARD

The Architecture and Design Journal of the AIA National Associates Committee

Forward Call for Author Submissions

Submissions Due Wednesday, March 7th

Forward and the American Institute of Architects (AIA) National Associates Committee (NAC) invites article submissions for Forward, the Architecture and Design Journal of the National Associates Committee.

Forward, the bi-annual design journal of the National Associates Committee, is distributed to AIA leadership, 85,000+ members, non-members and educators. The journal is a research-based publication that presents articles from the perspective of the designer or artist. We also strive to extend our focus beyond architecture towards multidisciplinary discussions incorporating art and technology.

For more information, please review our submission guidelines:

Forward 112: Process

In addition, submitting authors will have the opportunity to be selected as part of the Forward Peer Review process. Appointments will be made based on the quality of an author's submission and alignment with Forward's journalistic objectives.